READ FOR YOURSELF AND LEARN HOW TO IDENTIFY

Active Moors in the Movement for uplifting THE PEOPLE; in turn, Humanity; be aware of the Real Agents that engage in a particularly repugnant political tactic called Character Assassination which is, “the attempts to smear someone’s reputation are rooted in crystal clear political motivations and count on the public’s “fear, ignorance, envy, suspicion, malice, jealousy, frustration, greed, aggression, economic rivalry, emotional insecurity and an inferiority complex” (Davis, 1950, p. 222).

Slander and character assassination have been used against the national leaders by adversarial De facto (and their handpicked agents) seeking to make headway.

Bullying is to hide inadequacy, and sincere seekers of truth will reason and manage; however; Bullies bully to hide their weakness and inadequacy, and to divert attention away from their incompetence.

By attacking an individual's personal life, facts of a biography, and specific individual features (which we will call them "character" for convenience) the attacker tries to hurt the victim politically, morally, socially, or psychologically and thus, depending on circumstances, remove him or her from a contest, sway public opinion, or achieve some other goal.

Character assassination is practiced usually by people with U.S. Corporate Political and Military arena and/or background training; as in the modern day, "J. Edgar Hoover's wickedly illegal "Counterintelligence Program" [COINTELPRO]".

Attack the person, showing them to be bad and unworthy. Any of the 'four Ds' below may be used (as well as additional methods):

- Discredit them, showing their arguments and decisions are weak and they are incapable in their work.
- Use Defamation, damaging the good reputation and name of others.
- Demonize them, turning them into bad people that everyone hates, such that anything they do will be considered bad.
- Dehumanize them, treating them as a 'thing' and framing them as non-human with negligible values.

Character assassination is the attempt to discredit a person through damage to his or her personal character. This tactic is often used to harm an individual for spite or personal gain, in situations as small as a rumor mill, or as large as a national movement.

When character assassination is attempted through the use of lies, gross exaggeration, or misrepresentation of facts, it may be considered slander or libel, and may sometimes result in legal charges.

In general, the goal of character assassination is to cause some harm to the target as a result of the stories or rumors. For instance, in the movement or a political election, a candidate/agent may try to damage an opponent's reputation by claiming he or she is estranged from family members, or has a history of marital affairs; however, the agent is usually a player of both sides – whatever is most effective for character assassination. The rumors that are spread; do not necessarily need to be related to the issue at hand, such as whether or not the targeted Moor would make a good leader or holder of a position; instead, the agent need only to cause voters or the public to question whether the target adheres to culturally acceptable moral and personal standards.

Don't fall for it...

Be aware the real agent(s)
